

"Enormous Funds" of Independents Hidden, Charge Republicans

LaFollette's Counsel Willing to Have New Angle of Campaign Fund Probe Aired, but Wants No Delay to Investigation of Allegations Already Before Committee, as Witnesses Already Have Been Summoned.

Separate Inquiries Ordered

One Will Consider Old Phase in Washington, While Borah and Shipstead Will Take Up New Situation and Circumstantial Letters in Chicago—Haste Essential.

Washington, Oct. 27. — Through counsel, the Republican national committee laid before the senate campaign investigating committee today a counter-charge of the expenditure of "enormous sums" on behalf of the LaFollette-Wheeler presidential ticket and not accounted for through the independent national political organization.

Frank P. Walsh, counsel for Senator LaFollette, author of the charge of the use of a Republican "slush" fund in this campaign, said he would be glad to have this matter aired but he interpreted an objection to the interruption to the present inquiry into the LaFollette charges, saying that his witnesses already had been summoned and should have "priority" on the witness stand.

The committee did not rule formally on the issue, which was the subject of an interchange between counsel, but it did decide to conduct two inquiries simultaneously, one here and the other in Chicago, beginning Wednesday. Chairman Borah and Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, will leave tomorrow for Chicago, while Senators Caraway, Arkansas, and Byard, Delaware, Democrats, will conduct the Washington end of the investigation.

Will Probe Circumstantial Stories.

Samuel Untermyer of New York, a Democrat, who has been associated with Mr. Walsh in the hearings here, will accompany Senators Borah and Shipstead to cross-question witnesses, who will include William M. Butler, chairman, and William V. Hughes, treasurer, of the Republican national committee, and George C. Nelson, chairman of the Illinois and Ohio. Mr. Walsh will remain here to prosecute the case before the other section of the committee.

There were two controlling factors in the decision to conduct two inquiries at the same time. One was the brief time left before the election, and the other a desire to interfere as little as might be with the work of the campaign managers, who necessarily are extremely busy at this, the last week of the campaign.

While in Chicago, Senators Borah and Shipstead expect to make further efforts to get at the truth of the circumstantial and as yet secret stories told by two Chicago men regarding campaign expenditures. "I am sure," Senator LaFollette has stated, "that they did not want to take the responsibility of laying these stories before the country until the committee had followed up 'leads' given by the two men."

In presenting his counter-charge to the investigators today, Weymouth Kirkland, a Chicago lawyer, did not go into details other than to say that the Republican national committee had evidence "showing the coercion of labor unions with regard to how their members shall vote on November 4." Later he made reference incidentally to the sending out of "25,000,000 pamphlets by the American Federation of Labor" on behalf of the independent presidential ticket.

Borah Cuts Short Argument.

Replying to the objection raised by Walsh to an interruption to the present line of inquiry, Kirkland said he thought the time should be divided.

"It does seem to me," he said, "that some of these things should be laid before the voters before election day."

Chairman Borah cut short the argument and told counsel to proceed with the presentation of evidence. However, Senator Caraway first put into record a portion of a letter written by Grafton D. Cushing, chairman of the Republican city committee at Boston, appealing for additional funds with the explanation that the Massachusetts Coolidge campaign finance committee would be unable to devote its funds to the work in Massachusetts.

Louis K. Largent of Boston is chairman of the Massachusetts committee, and counsel for LaFollette has asked that he be summoned. He and nearly a score of other witnesses may be brought to Washington for examination during the next few days. A formal request was made of the committee today that subpoenas be issued for W. L. Mellon, head of the Republican campaign fund committee in the Pittsburgh district, and four others.

Guy D. Emerson, vice president of the Bankers Trust company of New York, and head of a group of men who have supervised the organization of Republican collection committees in New York, Massachusetts, Vermont, and many other states, was the only witness heard today. He was in the stand approximately four hours and was subjected to a long cross-examination by Walsh and Untermyer.

Several times Senator Borah sought to get at the point of some of the cross-examination and at the conclusion of the day he had a sharp tilt with Untermyer. The New York lawyer was seeking to develop that some "movement" had been held out to the committee by the Republican fund.

Emerson had denied that, and in his own examination with Untermyer, the latter then asked the question to show that Emerson had been in the line of the Republican party.

SECRETLY ORDERED ON NAVAL OIL LEASES

Fall Also Said to Have Tried to Have Navy Department Refuse Information on Matter

Los Angeles, Oct. 27. — Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, ordered secrecy in his department and in an indirect manner suggested to the navy department that publicity be not given relative to the granting of naval oil leases, according to testimony and documentary evidence submitted today by the prosecution at the trial in federal court here of the government suit for cancellation of leases and contracts held by the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company in the Elk Hills naval reserve.

The government also sought to show that Fall was impatient over delays incurred in closing the proposed Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, fuel oil storage base, and that protests had been made that bids for a construction of the base facilities had not been publicly advertised.

Most of the prosecution's points were brought out through the presentation in evidence of more than a score of letters, telegrams, and communications, which were identified by Edward C. Finney, first assistant secretary of the interior, whose testimony was not complete when court adjourned until Friday.

However, the line of questioning was dropped.

Under the examination of Walsh, Emerson went into rather minute details of how the collection committees were organized, and how they were operated and also as to sums received. Taking over the examination, Untermyer called attention that there were no committees for the steel, oil, and sugar trades and said that what he wanted to know was why there was no organized effort to collect from the "protected" industries.

Emerson said there was a committee for the sugar trade, under the title of "food stuffs" and that efforts had been made to organize in the steel industry, but without any success.

The New York banker insisted that there had been no "concealment" of contributions and that in agreement with National Treasurer Hughes, it had been sought to have the contributions as representative as possible, a large number of small gifts, rather than larger ones.

ROOSEVELT WOULD AID HOME OWNER

Renters Also Would Benefit by Tax Reforms and More Sanitary Housing Conditions

New York, Oct. 27. — Theodore Roosevelt, Republican nominee for governor, assured residents of Manhattan and the Bronx tonight that he would "take prompt and effective action" to do away with the unsanitary living conditions resulting from the housing shortage.

"Furthermore," he said, "I shall endeavor scientifically to adjust the taxes that they do fall with such crushing weight upon the rent payer and the home owner. These are two elements in the community which will receive from me constant and sympathetic attention."

Colonel Roosevelt referred in his speeches to the "dangerous situation" in regard to housing that developed during the war.

The nominee accused the Democrats of claiming credit for "what" with remedying the housing troubles, but asserted that "the record contradicts them."

"Examine the record and you will find that I am absolutely correct in what I have stated," he said, "and that the very necessary and beneficial laws bearing on housing have been initiated and enacted by Republican legislatures."

EXPLODING SHELLS BRING DANGER TO FIRE FIGHTERS

Dover, N. J., Oct. 27. — The task of fighting the forest fire that has been raging for two days this evening became dangerous when flames at frequent intervals reached discarded army shells scattered in the Picturing government arsenal reservation, causing explosions of varying degrees of intensity.

Although a shift of wind early today proved a great aid in reducing the possibility of serious damage at the arsenal itself where large quantities of army munitions are stored, the battle continued through the day uninterrupted.

Arsenal employees, combined with a force of several hundred drawn from nearby places, have inaugurated a shift plan which has made sleep possible for the workers every eight hours.

LABORATORY WHERE FIVE WERE STRICKEN CLOSED

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 27. — The laboratory at the Bay plant of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey here, in which five workers were stricken Saturday with a strange toxic delirium which caused death of two of them after breathing what was believed poisonous gases, has been closed.

Senator A. J. David of Union county declared he had been assured that manufacture of the substance had been halted by the company.

It was explained by company officials, Mr. David said, that the gas in the laboratory, it mixed with gasoline to "give it more pep."

WARNS AGAINST FIRES

Saranac Lake, Oct. 27. — Reports received here tonight from forest rangers indicated that forest fires in the northern Adirondack section were either darkened or under control. District Ranger James S. Hopkins today issued special warnings to hunters to use great care to prevent fires.

New fires were reported today in Clinton, Franklin, or eastern Essex, and St. Lawrence counties.

GENERAL HALEMANN DIES

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 27. — General William B. Halemann, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, died here today at a hospital at Churchill Downs, where he was taken immediately after being stricken while watching the race.

General Halemann was 74 years old. At one time was part owner of the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times.

SUGAR TARIFF COSTS USERS $1,000 WEEKLY

LaFollette Declares "Trust" Tried to Prevent Report of Commission Being Made to President

CUT RECOMMENDED

President's Decision Due After Plymouth Trip, Senator Says, But Apparently Will Be Delayed Until Election

Baltimore, Oct. 27. — Senator Robert M. LaFollette, independent presidential candidate, in an address here tonight, declared that failure of President Coolidge to put into effect the reduction of sugar duties which he said had been recommended by the tariff commission is costing American housewives one million dollars a week.

The "sugar trust," Mr. LaFollette charged, has been endeavoring "in every conceivable way" to delay action and exerted pressure on at least one member of the tariff commission to prevent submission of a report on its sugar investigation to the President.

In the course of his speech, the first of six he will deliver during the final week of campaigning, the Wisconsin senator declared that it is "no Calvin Coolidge, but the silent servant of the private monopoly system, that heads the Republican ticket."

Each week's delay very costly

"On July 31, by a vote of three to two, the final report of the sugar investigation was submitted to President Coolidge," said Senator LaFollette. "The majority report, signed by Vice Chairman Culbertson and Commissioners Cossigan and Lewis, recommended that the President make a reduction in the sugar tariff. The amount of reduction is not known."

"For three months, President Coolidge has had this report and recommendations of the tariff commission. He took it with him to Plymouth, Vt. It was stated that he would make his decision immediately after his return but he has not yet made it. He evidently does not intend to make it until after the fourth of November. That is what the sugar trust wants."

"Every week that President Coolidge's decision has been delayed costs American housewives one million dollars."

There have been 122 weeks since the report was submitted. If after November 4, he fails to order a reduction and this holds the master whip until the fifth of March, when a new president will take his place, the total cost of the delay will amount to about $20,000,000.

COOLIDGE ABLE TO STAND ON OWN FEET

Dawes Says He Can Oppose Populists and Cry If He Believes Himself to Be Right

Rochester, Oct. 27. — Calvin Coolidge was recommended to the voters of upstate New York today by his running mate, Charles G. Dawes, as a man willing "to take the gaff when the crowd is against him, knowing that eventually the judgment of the mass of the people will be with him and vindicate him."

Swinging across the state, from Albany to Rochester, Mr. Dawes flayed Senator LaFollette and his independent candidacy, dismissed the Democratic party as one "fortunate if in their political existence," and appealed for a full vote from this normally Republican section of the state.

"Thank God that we get a chance, once in awhile, to vote for such a man as Coolidge," he declared amid applause at Albany. "Thereby we can give the lie to these cowardly politicians who say that we cannot do all things to all men and whose creed in politics is 'please everybody, whether they are right or wrong and let the government take care of itself.'"

LOEB'S FATHER DIES

Chicago, Oct. 27. — Albert Loeb, vice president of Sears Roebuck & Co., and the father of Richard Loeb, who with Nathan Leopold, Jr., kidnapped and killed Robert Franks, died at the family home here tonight. He had been ill for many months.

WOMAN DIES AT 114 YEARS OF AGE; OLDEST IN N. Y.

New York, Oct. 27. — New York's oldest woman, Mrs. Pecchie Malka "dang," 114, died today at the Harlem home of the Daughters of Israel, where she had lived for the last six years. Mrs. Graven took active part in a party given at the home in honor of her 114th birthday five weeks ago.

Mrs. Frank's family was not old for its longevity. A brother, more than 100, a son, 92, and two daughters, more than 80 years old, are expected to attend the funeral tomorrow. Mrs. Frank's mother died at the age of 102 and her father at 92.

Percy Houghton, Noted Football Coach, Dies of Acute Indigestion Stricken at Practice on Gridiron

While at Harvard, 1908 to 1916, Teams were always successful, Ranking With Best in Game's History—Came to Columbia in 1923 and Was Building Up New Machine That Promised to Surpass Former Efforts.

New York, Oct. 27. — Percy Houghton, head football coach at Columbia university, founder of the famous "Houghton system" at Harvard and generally regarded as one of the foremost exponents of the gridiron sport, died this afternoon at St. Luke's hospital at 5 o'clock, one hour after he was stricken with acute indigestion at Baker field while directing the work of his squad.

His sudden death came two days after the Columbia eleven had administered a crushing defeat to Williams college, which was taken as proof by critics that Houghton had installed a football system at Columbia destined to rival his former success at Harvard where his teams from 1908 to 1916 ranked with the best in gridiron history.

The fatal attack interrupted the first practice which was to prepare his squad for its real test next Saturday at Ithaca against Cornell. Army and Dartmouth were also on the most ambitious schedule which Columbia had attempted since football had been revived at Columbia in 1915.

Houghton came to Columbia in April, 1923, taking charge of the spring training of that season. His contract was said to have been for $18,000 a year, thought to be a record price for a football coach. He was secured by a special committee appointed by the university to get a coach capable of producing a real football team. Previously, the Blue and White teams had been of mediocre calibre.

The new coach worked slowly to install the fundamentals. His success last year was fair and his 1924 squad was only promising. The early games of this year, particularly the 19 to 7 defeat at Pennsylvania two weeks ago, showed some improvement, but in the Williams game the Columbia eleven displayed a powerful attack which proved to be the big surprise of the present season and heavy with possibilities.

A joint meeting of the Columbia university athletic committee and football coaches went into session shortly after Mr. Houghton's death to decide whether the Columbia-Cornell game, scheduled for next Saturday, should be postponed and to choose a temporary coach for the Columbia team.

COOLIDGE SILENT ON KLAN - DAVIS PRINTING PRESS ALL POWERFUL

Democratic Nominee Also Declares Voters Must Consider Duty Before Them at Polls Without Them to Mould Public World War Unlikely to Have Occurred, Says McCormick

Jersey City, Oct. 27. — Speaking late tonight in the crowded Fourth Regiment armory, John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for president, informed his audience that he had been unable to get any reply from the White House regarding President Coolidge's attitude on the Ku Klux Klan question.

"No reply has been made to me," Mr. Davis said in answer to a question asked from the floor. "If the gentleman has been fortunate enough to receive it from any other quarter he has more information than I. That is one of the topics in Washington, but there are several other topics about which the American people ought to have some information and the first of these topics is where the Republican nominee stands on the great question of corruption in government."

"My friends," Mr. Davis said, "we are in the last week of this campaign. The time has unquestionably come when the American people must consider in sober honesty the duty that lies before them. We have told them that there was no escape this year from a verdict on the part of the individual voters of approval or disapproval of the record of his public servants; that he could not, no matter how he might give his conscience, escape the expression of an opinion which would be cast either for or against honesty in government and fidelity in high places."

ADIRONDACK FIRES BEING CONTROLLED

Only One Unchecked — Ranger Predicts Further Outbreaks Unless Rain Falls

Glens Falls, Oct. 27. — After burning over more than a thousand acres, forest fires in Warren and Essex counties, with one exception in West Stony Creek, 29 miles north of this city, are under control tonight and one or two are virtually extinguished.

P. J. Cunningham of North Creek, district forest ranger, said tonight that the condition is still serious and that further outbreaks are probable unless rain falls soon.

All danger of flames spreading to the half million estate of Richard Hudnut in the town of Johnsbury, is past. About 250 acres of black spruce mountain have been swept by fire.

Other fires, most of them under control and in which 250 fire fighters have been engaged, are: West Stony Creek, 200 acres; Second pond, 150 acres; North Hudson, 40 acres; Faro lake, 75 acres; Crown Point, 100 acres and Thendara 100 acres.

SMITH SAYS OPPONENTS PLAN MACHINE-LIKE RULE

Mt. Vernon, Oct. 27. — Governor Smith opened his down-state re-election drive tonight with an address in which he replied to the assertion of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, his Republican opponent, that the cost of the state government was cut 10 percent under the last Republican administration and that a Roosevelt administration would "do the same thing."

"When Colonel Roosevelt promises the same kind of economy we received under the last Republican administration," said Governor Smith, "everything calculated to promote the health and happiness of our people and to protect human life and to keep suffering as to be neglected and that governmental activities are to go on outside the state, but I am confined to a cold blooded machine for the administration of routine affairs."

COOLIDGE OR CONFUSION, SAYS HUGHES

Declares Democrats Working With LaFollette to Throw Election Into Congress Where Latter Can Control Choice

SEEKS DEPRESSION

Secretary Declares Uncertainty of Outcome Will Cause Business to Slump — Reviews Tax Program

(By the Associated Press)

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 27. — An appeal to the vote of the nation to forestall "confusion and disaster," by making sure of the election of Calvin Coolidge, at the polls November 4, was made by Secretary of State Hughes in an address at Convention hall here tonight.

Mr. Hughes declared "there is no hope" of the election of John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential candidate, and charged that the aim of the independent candidate, Senator LaFollette, is to prevent an election November 4, so that he may "control" the selection of a President in congress.

Mr. Hughes coupled with his declaration that there is "no hope" for the election of John W. Davis the charge that Mr. Davis was encouraging LaFollette to defeat an election at the polls.

Efforts to Defeat Election.

"We find the Democratic leaders petting LaFollette," he said, "Mr. McClellan from his sick room issued a statement to avow LaFollette's vibrant and wholesome movement, a movement which I presume to have the aim of overthrowing the constitution of the United States. Mr. Davis, the eminent lawyer, who knows something of the constitution, raises his voice to belittle the growing opposition to LaFollette. That, somehow, fatigued by the monotony of his own attacks, Mr. Davis looks for some unfortunate victim to defend, and discovers Senator Wheeler. What is the import of these friendly offices? They are the outward and visible sign of an attempt, not to win, but by encouraging LaFollette, to defeat an election on November 4."

Considering the possibility of the election being thrown into the hands of representatives, Mr. Hughes declared:

"Think they can hold up the Republican by fear of the choice of a Democratic vice president? Fall in their tracks!"

"If the Democratic party desires to make an appeal to save the country from its own vice president," he said, "then it will have to support the choice of the people, Calvin Coolidge."

No Election; No Prosperity.

In urging voters of all parties to unite behind Mr. Coolidge, Secretary Hughes said:

"Every American who has not lost his common sense in the confusion of partisan tongues must realize that this is the way to safeguard his interests."

"The question is simply whether or not there shall be an election November 4," said Mr. Hughes. "If there is an election on the day there cannot be the slightest doubt but that it will be the election of Calvin Coolidge. If there is not an election on that day you will have uncertainty and confusion; you will have a halting of enterprise and business depression because of impaired confidence."

Secretary Hughes pointed out that congress does not meet until February 11 to canvass the electoral vote and declared that if after November 4, it was found there had been no election, the country would face "stagnation" waiting action by congress.

Asserting that LaFollette "has never had any hope of election," Mr. Hughes declared the Wisconsin senator "has sought to establish a balance of power for himself."

"He wants to be master of his own government," the speaker continued. "He wishes to prevent an election on November 4 to throw the election into the hands of representatives and, defeating an election there, to control the election of a vice president by the senate—a vice president would thus become president."

The program of the LaFollette-Wheeler forces was described by Mr. Hughes as "fruitful of agitation and disorder." "It aims at nothing short of the overthrow of our system of government through its attack upon the constitution and its endeavor to make congress supreme," he said.

Mr. Hughes reviewed at length the tax reduction program of the Republican administration, charged the last Democratic administration with responsibility for the depression of 1920, which, he said, particularly struck at the farmers of the middle west, and declared that the Harding-Coolidge administration had restored sound conditions and prosperity.

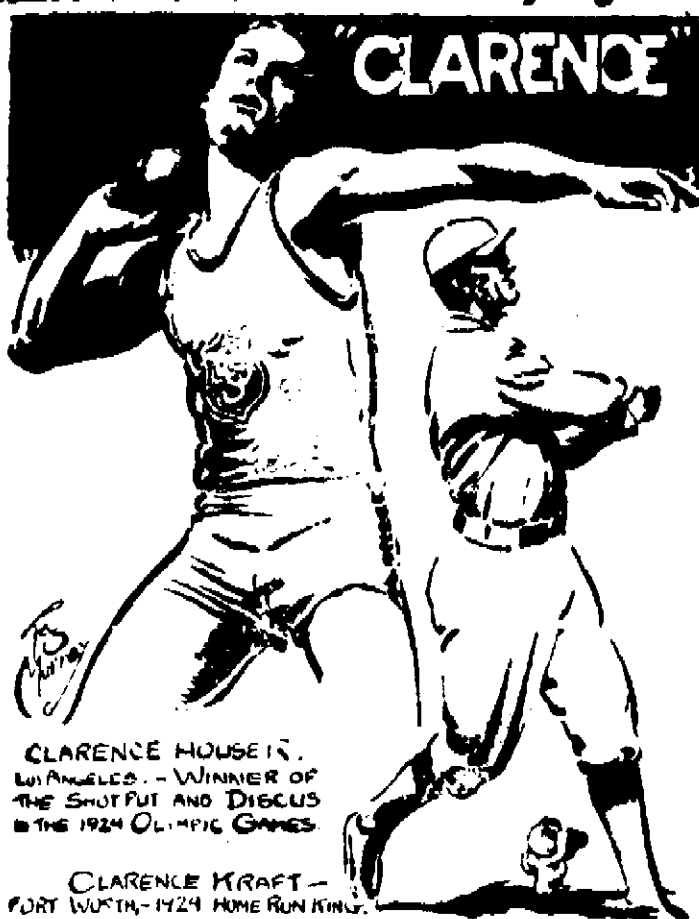

43 WOMEN CLAIM MAN

Vienna, Oct. 27. — Forty-two women, all claiming to be the wife of a man named Julius Greenwald, appeared in court as witnesses against him today Greenwald had been arrested just as he stepped outside a tailor shop, wearing a new suit of clothes purchased with money which, it was testified, he had obtained from his 42nd wife.

From the testimony of the women it was deduced that Greenwald was in the habit of getting married, obtaining money from his bride, and then deserting them. The evidence indicated that he averaged about $50 per bride.

What's in a Name?

CLARENCE HOUSE, WINNER OF THE SHOTPUT AND DISCUS IN THE 1924 OLYMPIC GAMES

CLARENCE KRAFT

It is generally understood—of course it was when I was a kid—that the name, "Clarence," designates a youngster who is lacking in courage, athletic ability or strength—that he is a sort of mollycoddle or a snail—a "Perceval," a "Cyril" or a "Gerald." But this understanding—if it wasn't all shot to pieces in the great war—has been reinforced in 1924 when the "Clarences" more than made up for their own. Consider, either the case of Clarence House of Orange, California, and Clarence Kraft of Ft. Worth, Texas, two boys who might be said to have made good in spite of their first names.

Clarence House jumped into fame in 1921 when he beat the veteran Pat McDonald in the shot put, while only a high school boy. House had set his heart on going to the Olympic games in 1924, but they all said he was too young. So he went to Olympics four years later and won both the shot put and the discus throw, beating such stars as Hartrant, Hills, Pope, and Leib. He's no snail.

Then consider Clarence Kraft, who hit 54 home runs for Fort Worth this year, setting a new record for the minors and helping his team win its fifth straight pennant. He's no mollycoddle. Other Clarences I can think of who achieved athletic fame in 1924 are Clarence DeMar, Marathon runner; Clarence Pinkston, Olympic diver; Clarence Griffin, coast tennis player; Clarence Galloway, Philadelphia short stop; Clarence Mitchell, Philly pitcher; and Clarence Mueller, Cardinal outfielder.

NEW TONIC WHETS APPETITE AND IMPROVES DIGESTION

Makes Food Taste Better, Food Digest Better, Sleep Fine, Too

WONDERFUL FALL TONIC USERS SAY

"I never believed much in taking a tonic before meals to help appetite and digestion but I do now," enthusiastically declared E. M. Smith, whose address is given below.

"I tried about it and I'd take this new wine-like tonic called Pal-O-Via a few days that right away I'd begin eating more. Food would taste better and I'd get a lot more real nourishment and energy out of food. I started it and it sure is a few days and say 'You can't imagine what a difference it makes. My appetite grew sharp. When meal time came I was starved. I didn't want to eat and it was a wonder how much more energetic and peppy you feel when the stomach is working like clockwork. I don't wonder that big stores here in the east recommend and get the exclusive sales agency for a tonic like Pal-O-Via. It does what it says. After you feel like a new man," continued Mr. Smith, 1600 Belmont street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Thousands of people have tried Pal-O-Via (meaning palatable extracts of oil and wine) and in just a day or so been so surprised and pleased they publicly praise it. Anyone can get exactly the same results and it surely isn't expensive. Drop in at the drug store tonight. Notice the formula on the bottle. Let the manager tell you of the many customers who have been built up to buoyant health by Pal-O-Via. Then if you want a real surprise—if you want to know just how fine you can be feeling in just a few days—take a home a bottle and a swifter of it just before meals a few days and tell the story.

AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

PUTTER FIRST! DRIVER LAST!

IF THE BALL IS LYING "JUST OFF THE GREEN" IS IT ADVISABLE TO USE A PUTTER, OR SHOULD ONE USE A MASHIE? WHICH IS EASIER TO CONTROL?

Answered by CYRIL WALKER

National open champion.

I should not advise the use of either. A mashie iron is the club to use, for two reasons. In the first place, the putter is too straight in the face and the grass just off the green is so much longer than it is on the putting green that it is very hard to judge how to hit the ball. In the second place, the mashie is too lofted and lifts the ball too much, which is absolutely unnecessary. The mashie from the long grass will lift the ball over the longer grass off the putting green and will allow the ball to run on the smoother putting green just as soon as it hits the green.

STATE SCHOOL FOR TROOPERS

Announced for Troy Central Y. M. C. A. Commencing January 5 and Continuing for Six Weeks.

Troy, Oct. 27. — The New York State Police school will begin a six weeks' course at the Troy Central Y. M. C. A. on next January 5, continuing to February 13, it has been announced by Lieutenant Albert B. Moore, dean of the New York State Police school, and an inspector of the State Police bureau.

Lieutenant Moore, who has been in charge of the school since its inception here four years ago, stated that the registration so far has reached 150, which is only a few less than the total enrollment for last year. He expressed the opinion that the school this year would take care of the largest class in its history.

New studies have been added to the course and for this reason it was decided to extend the course to six weeks instead of four as heretofore. One of the new subjects to be taken up, and one which will form the principal part of the course will be the new motor vehicle law. Both Superintendent Moore and Lieutenant Moore believe that this is one of the vital problems that will confront the state police from now on and for this reason they wish to have every trooper, as well as every peace officer, thoroughly instructed in this new law.

Captain Allen Smith, jail-jitsu expert, has been obtained again this year to instruct the students in his art. An expert rifle instructor will be retained, but his name has not yet been announced.

At the end of six weeks all those who qualify will be graduated and presented with a certificate. Awards will also be made for those receiving highest honors.

Residents of the state are not the only ones who have asked to be enrolled. So far there has been a student enrolled from as far south as South Carolina.

Lieutenant Moore has just completed for the third edition a comprehensive digest of the penal law and criminal procedure for the use of the state troopers.

NEW HAVEN ENGINEER RETIRED

New Rochelle, Oct. 27.—Edward A. Sweeney of 165 Harrison street, New Rochelle, completed 44 years of service in the employ of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad Saturday evening, and was retired.

Sweeney has been an engineer on the road for 40 years. He started as an engine wiper. Later became a fireman, and on July 1, 1884, he took his place at the throttle of an engine, which post he has held until Saturday. For the last several years he has driven a train on the commuter stretch from Stamford to New York.

A treasure on the pantry shelf. There is probably no article of food in the pantry that contributes more than Chicago coffee to the health and happiness of the family circle. advt 5

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to normal action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which is impossible for calomel to do without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of easy, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowels and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound and are as safe as salt. You will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

EVEN SPECIALISTS FAILED

But the Fruit Treatment—Fruit-a-Live!—Brought Complete Relief

It is simply marvellous how successful the Fruit Treatment is in overcoming chronic troubles, like Constipation, Dyspepsia and Rheumatism.

The juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes—intensified and combined with tonics—are made into small tablets called "Fruit-a-Live!" which have proven the marvels of the medical world for many diseases. For instance, Mr. James A. Keith, 50 Oakhill Ave., Waterbury, Conn., says: "I recommend 'Fruit-a-Live!' to anyone suffering from chronic Constipation. Having suffered for ten years, and receiving little relief from specialists, I at last have been helped by your good tablets."

Your dealer has "Fruit-a-Live!"—25c and 50c a box—or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-Live! Limited, Ogdensburg, N. Y.

FARMERS TO EXCHANGE IDEAS

Correspondence Courses Help Men to Pass on Own Experience as Well as Learning for Themselves.

Ithaca, Oct. 27.—"The inside of our stable door is painted black, and under the heading 'Itainy Days' is written with chalk the following work: Repair screen on granary; holes in bin 4, place new boards; Charles' harness defective; pump in cellar needs new washers; barn door latch out of order. When one of these jobs is done we wipe it off the door."

"This scheme was used in the shop of my former business and saved us many dollars," writes Max Frouss of Mountainville, Orange county, one of the farmers taking the correspondence course in farm management from the state agricultural college here. His suggestion for making the rainy days "rainy" is being passed on to other farmers taking this course along with more of the same sort from other farmers.

In this way, says the college, its correspondence courses are really exchanges of information and time saving tips for good farmers of the state. The specialists here who read reports in these courses suggest how study can be put into practice on the students' farms and pass along the ideas that others send in. The eleven courses the college gives free to residents of the state as a part of its extension service are limited to those who can put them into practice as well as study books, so that they are really practical.

Last year more than six hundred farmers in all parts of the state took advantage of these courses to use their spare time to greater profit, and indications this year are for even greater enrollment, the college says.

Faces Abandonment.

Frank Daniels, giving his address as Harrisburgh, Pa., was arrested in Oneonta yesterday by Patrolman Cross on a warrant received from Sheriff Converse at Cooperstown, charging abandonment of his wife and family in the town of Milford.

According to information from the sheriff's office in Cooperstown, Daniels deserted his family last May and since that time has been at various places in Pennsylvania. Information was received that he had appeared in Oneonta and the local authorities were asked to arrest him. He was indicted by the May grand jury.

He is being held in the local lockup, awaiting arrival of officers from Cooperstown.

LOCAL MENTION.

Many a Chorus.
He panted of his vested rights until his tongue was coated; he swore he'd sock the trusts to boot—and then he never voted.
—Boston Herald.

—The extensive repairs to the First Baptist church are moving along nicely and the work is nearing completion.

—About 100 couples thoroughly enjoyed the dance held at St. Mary's hall last evening by the Monday club. DeWey's Imperial provided the music.

—A special meeting of the common council will be held at the Municipal building this evening to consider the purchase of supplies and improvements for the water works.

—The men who expect to attend the laymen's dinner in Albany tonight are requested to meet at St. James' parish house at promptly 4 o'clock. All cars will start from the parish house.

—The regular monthly tuberculosis clinic, which is free to all residents of Oneonta county, will be held Thursday at the Community house, from 1 to 5 p. m. Dr. Winsor, as usual, will be the examining physician.

—The fruits estate sale, which was to have been held this morning, is not to be held since the property has been disposed of at private sale. The property at 33 Chestnut street has been purchased by Charles Smith, and that at 55 Chestnut street by Charles Whitney of the Singer Sewing Machine agency. The property at the corner of Chestnut and Academy streets has been purchased by a syndicate of Oneonta men.

ENTIRELY NEW DECORATIONS

Committee in Charge of American Legion Armistice Eve Dance Determined That Everything Be Different.

Former wearers of the khaki and navy blue generally put over what they start and in connection with dances and entertainments that statement applies particularly in Oneonta. Ever since its organization Oneonta has staged twice annually the best dances of the season in Oneonta and when the committee in charge of the Armistice Eve ball to be held at the state armory on the evening of November 10, state that the present effort will be the most pretentious to date lovers of the dance in Oneonta and vicinity towns can realize what is in store for them.

The Legion has secured the services this year of Jan Garber's original orchestra, the same aggregation which has pleased thousands of persons who have danced to its entrancing strains or have heard its superlative music over the radio or on Victor phonograph records. Garber has just finished a long engagement at the largest dance palace in New York city and is taking a short tour before returning himself up to another big proposition. Every arrangement has been made with the end in view of making the affair the "best of the best" ever held in Oneonta. The decorations will be of an entirely new and novel character and every other feature will be in harmony with the quality of the music. Already reservations for boxes and tickets are being made and all indications point to a crowd that will tax the capacity of the huge drill shed.

VOCAL TRAIT COMING

Widely Known Elements Quartet Stage Here Tomorrow Night—Program Is Announced.

Oneonta lovers of high class vocal music are promised a rare treat tomorrow night when the widely known Elements quartet of Binghamton will give a concert in the high school auditorium.

The quartet first jumped into the public limelight with the excellence of its work at Kiwanis club conventions. Their singing drew such favorable comment that they were asked to sing for the Columbia phonograph and have made several records for this concern. They also have been heard over the radio, one of their programs broadcasted from New York some time ago drawing favorable comment from radio fans all over the country.

Joe Leon Congdon, first tenor, for several years has been soloist in some of Binghamton's largest churches and has won the reputation for having one of the clearest and sweetest tenor voices in the southern tier. Robert D. Truesdale, second tenor, began his career as a vocalist with the Binghamton Central High school Glee club under the direction of Professor William H. Hoerger, at that time head of the department of music in the Binghamton public schools and now head of the department of music at Colgate university. Since that time he has made an enviable reputation as a soloist both in church and secular selections.

J. Fenimore Leonard, first bass, also is one of the most prominent church soloists of Binghamton and also a teacher of distinction. Paul S. Sprout, second bass, also has won a reputation in church circles. All four members of the quartet are trained vocalists who are accustomed to handling high class vocal selections in an artistic manner.

Elmer F. Kinsman, accompanist, studied piano at Cornell university and is known as one of the best pianists ever to play in Binghamton. He has been much sought after as accompanist for noted singers.

Dr. A. H. Brownell and O. C. Becker of Oneonta heard the quartet sing in Buffalo at the Kiwanis convention and both gave high praise to their work.

The following program has been announced for the concert tomorrow night:

- (a) Winter song (Eulard); (b) A Little Close Harmony (O'Hara), Quartet.
- Spirit Flower, Campbell-Tipton, Mr. Congdon.
- (a) Gypsy Love Song, From the Fortune Hunter, (Herbert), (b) The Sandman (Protheroe), Quartet.
- Invictus (Bruno Huhn), Mr. Sprout.
- (a) Sylvia (Speaks); (b) Swing Along, (Cooke), Quartet.
- Intermission of five minutes.
- Good-Bye (To), Mr. Leonard.
- (a) Chimney Song (Parks); (b) Lady Chino (Clough-Leichter) Quartet.
- Thine Sing the Songs of Araby (Clay), Mr. Truesdale.
- Sunset (VanDeWater), Quartet.

CHEER UP, MEN

You Are Invited to the Women's Democratic Rally — It's Going to be the Best Yet.

The men of the city are extended a special invitation to be present at the big Democratic rally which is being put on by the Democratic women's organization of Oneonta on Wednesday afternoon at the Municipal hall. Plans have already materialized which assure the affair of being the biggest thing of its kind yet staged by the women of this city.

In addition to the principal speakers, Mrs. Marion Cothran of New York and W. T. Weiden of Richfield Springs, Democratic candidate for county judge and Everett Williams, candidate for member of the assembly, the platform will be occupied by the various committee women of the city and wards and districts of the city and the officers of the women's division of the John W. Davis for President club. One of the special features of the program to be rendered by Miss Marshall's Bon Ton orchestra will be the "John W. Davis March to the White House," recently composed by Charles K. Harris, the famous song writer. The speakers for the evening will be introduced by Mrs. Louise Hanlon Clark, chairman of the Democratic women's organization of Oneonta.

U. & D. TRAINMAN INJURED.

Charles H. Fraiser of Kingston Falls From Moving Train.

Saturday afternoon Charles H. Fraiser of Kingston, a U. & D. trainman, popularly known as "Pop" along the line, sustained a compound fracture of the right ankle when he fell from the top of a moving train near Grand Hotel station when the brake chain broke on a car upon which he was attempting to set the brake before the train started down the steep grade beyond that station. Fraiser fell between the cars, but had the presence of mind to throw out his arm and swing himself clear of the car, dropping outside the rails and rolling down an embankment to the ditch at the bottom.

His body was pulled from the train and caboose detached from the train and the injured man rushed to the Kingston hospital where it is said that his leg will be saved. He doubtless owes his life to his effort to clear himself from the train as he fell.

EXPANDING BUSINESS

CHANGE OF ONEONTA PRODUCE COMPANY ALLOWS MORE SPACE TO FRED N. VANWIE.

Local Agent for Chevrolet Automobiles. Purchases Building Formerly Occupied by Oneonta Produce Company at Rear of Hotel Oneonta—Produce Company in Former Garban Building.

Two Oneonta business enterprises are allowed room for expansion through the removal of the Oneonta Produce company to the building formerly owned and occupied for many years by H. E. Gorham as a machine shop and the consequent purchase by Fred N. VanWie of the building at the rear of the Oneonta hotel, occupied by the Produce company, which is to be used as a service station for Chevrolet automobiles.

It will be remembered that Mr. Gorham is to take a well earned rest, probably retiring.

The building which the Produce company leaves and which Mr. VanWie purchased of Miller, Keyes & Keen, owners of the hotel, is about 100 feet square and of two floors, giving not only room for the service station but for the storage of second hand and some new motor cars and for a private wash rack.

Work of remodeling the building is already under way and a new heating plant is being installed. The building is ideally situated for the use of Mr. VanWie since it adjoins his new block on Dietz street and is in the heart of the business section of the city.

Clifford Franklin of this city will be the foreman of the service department and will be assisted by George Tamsett and Ronald Thompson, all of whom have had considerable experience of Chevrolet cars and who will have at their disposal a complete line of Chevrolet parts and special Chevrolet tools.

The room upstairs in the VanWie block, which has been used as the service shop with one room as a waiting room for Chevrolets. The business of Mr. VanWie has shown a steady growth and now employed besides Mr. VanWie and the service station men mentioned are Fred Wolcott, Earl P. Francis, Frank Gardner, L. F. Thompson, Harold Ferris, and James L. Horan of Hartwick. In the sales department, Frank Barker, parts department manager, and Miss Retha Schell as bookkeeper.

With the Produce Company.

The Oneonta Produce company has shown a steady growth since its beginning here a few years ago, and they have been fortunate in securing such a property as that of the Gorham building for their use. They have a D. & H. siding directly to their plant, which is a decided advantage over previous arrangements which have necessitated trucking from near the D. & H. station to their location on Dietz street.

While the building is a sizable one, with considerable floor space, still an addition is already planned; which it is thought will be constructed during the coming summer.

LEARN HOW TO VOTE

If Unfamiliar with Machines, Voters of Oneonta Should Be at School Today or Wednesday.

John Slattery, custodian of voting machines in the city of Oneonta, is anxious that every resident of the city have opportunity to become familiar with the method of voting by machines, which will be used in every district of the city of Oneonta on Tuesday of next week. Accordingly he has arranged for voting machine schools, to be held at the municipal building from 1 to 3:30 this afternoon and from 7 to 9 this evening. Tomorrow (Wednesday) the school will be open from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening. On both days Mr. Slattery and other citizens familiar with the operation of the machines will be present and will give instruction, to the end that voting on election day may be done correctly and expeditiously.

This is the third year in which the voting machines have been used, but the first in which the registration has even approximated the number of qualified voters. There are, therefore, many who have had no personal experience with machine voting; and since there were only 250 present at the voting school on Saturday, there must be a considerable number who are unfamiliar with such voting. To give them fullest opportunity the school of today and tomorrow is given, and it is urged that every citizen unfamiliar with such voting be present at these sessions.

Attention is also called to the fact that no more tickets can be had after Wednesday, since the custodian must place the machines in their special trucks, where they cannot again be disturbed until the day of election. The time for voting is limited, and every citizen will be doing a favor to the large number of others who may be waiting in line, if he votes expeditiously.

Remember the voting machine schools. Sessions 1 to 3:30 and 7 to 9 p. m. today; 7 to 9 tomorrow evening.

Halloween Meeting.

Twenty members of the Kings Herald of the First Methodist church entertained themselves in the church parlors yesterday afternoon with a combination Halloween party and meeting. The electric lights were covered with huge pumpkin faces, which added much to the spooky effect of several ghost stories. Light refreshments were served by the leaders, Mrs. Warren Brooks and Mrs. A. C. Bort.

They Quarrel by Turns

George Kapoun and his wife of Chicago can talk back to each other on three separate days of the week. But on Sunday they must not quarrel. Judge Harry Lewis has decreed. It is the first of a "take-your-turn-at-battle" experiment which Judge Lewis is trying out to keep married folks out of the divorce courts. The Kapouns were on the verge of separating until this plan was suggested.

FIRST DAY SUCCESSFUL

Salvation Army Drive Starts With $1,300 for $5,000 Quota Raised First Day—Some Failed to Report.

The drive of the Oneonta Salvation Army for funds for the coming year started off very successfully yesterday when a total of $1,000 was reported, showing that most of the canvassers are going to do their work early and promising that the full quota of $5,000.00 will be raised before Friday night when final reports must be made.

However, a number of the workers failed to make their reports yesterday, and this matter is considered of special importance since the mails have been largely used in securing canvassers and the officials of the drive have no way of knowing that any workers are unable to make their canvases unless they judge by those who fail to make their reports.

This, it is sure, can not be the case, and it is urged that all canvassers make a report of some kind to the campaign directors today before 5 o'clock. Offices are with the Chamber of Commerce and the phone number is 316.

The work of the Army is doubtless familiar to all in the city and the response has been most generous. Why not make your contribution today and save not only yourself, but the workers as well, any further effort?

Private Funeral for Capt. Mantia.

BURNED TO DEATH

Emmett Geer Dies When Midnight Blaze Destroys Home Near Walton

Emmett Geer, 20 years old, of Oneonta, was burned to death when the house in which he was living alone near Walton was destroyed by fire which broke out shortly after midnight yesterday.

Mr. Geer was working on the construction of the new state road near Walton and had been living in a tenement house on the Grant farm a short distance below Walton. Shortly after midnight, Fred Beers, who lived adjacent to the tenement house occupied by Mr. Geer, discovered that the building was on fire.

Mr. Beers rushed to the structure and smashed in a window of the room on the ground floor in which Mr. Geer was accustomed to sleep. A burst of flame and smoke through the window drove Mr. Beers from the building and he was unable to ascertain whether anyone was in the house.

The fire had gained such headway that the house was completely destroyed before any assistance could arrive. When the ruins cooled sufficiently to be examined, the body of Geer was found badly charred, together with the ruins of the bed upon which he is believed to have been sleeping.

While the exact cause of the fire is undetermined, it is thought that it was caused by an overheated stove as Geer was known to have a hot fire before retiring at night in order to have the house as warm as possible in the morning.

Mrs. Geer and her daughter had been visiting Mrs. Geer's daughter, Mrs. Joseph Day in Hancock, and was expected within a few days to return to her husband's home. Mr. Geer formerly was employed by the T. Lawrence & Hudson railroad in this city. Coroner F. R. Gladstone was called and viewed the body.

FUNERALS

George M. Peaslee.

Funeral services for George M. Peaslee, who died at his home, 435 Main street, Friday morning after a short illness, were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family home. Rev. Dr. C. S. Peabody, of the Main Street Baptist church officiating. Burial was made in Glenwood cemetery.

The bearers were A. E. Ceperley, Frank Huntington, W. H. Hoffman, Clifford Beach, D. J. Kilkenny, and D. J. Achker of this city. During the service Mrs. W. R. Morgan rendered as piano solos "Lead Kindly Light," "Abide with Me," and "My Faith Looks Up to Thee."

In addition to the flowers sent by friends and relatives there were pieces from the following organizations: Protected Home Circle, Royal Rebekah lodge, Business Women's club, Sunday school of the Main Street Baptist church, Sunshine class of the Main Street Baptist church, and Ceperley & Morgan.

Besides many from this city in attendance at the service were Wilson Norton and Fred Norton of Schenectady, Mr. and Mrs. Darius Peaslee of Laurens, Mrs. Elmore Eldred and Mrs. R. C. Peaslee of Ellettsville, and Mrs. Stella Jenks of West Oneonta.

Sister Dead at Susquehanna.
Susquehanna, Pa., Oct. 27.—Mrs. Cordelia M. L. Houghton, 87 years old, died at her home on Grand street Friday night. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Eva Larrabee of Binghamton and Mrs. Robert Robertson of this borough; also by two brothers, E. A. Leonard, Cooperstown, N. Y., and M. F. Leonard of Herndon, Kan.

The funeral was held at the home this afternoon, the Rev. Joseph Fields, pastor of the Presbyterian church officiating, assisted by the Rev. W. W. Watrous, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial was in Lamb's cemetery, Jackson.

Convalescing in the South.
Mrs. Ed. R. Moore of York, Pa., formerly of Oneonta and well known to many here, is now at New Orleans, La., for a three months' stay by direction of her physician to convalesce from two recent operations on her nose and throat. She had lost nearly 20 pounds in weight before she went to New Orleans but has already gained back four pounds after a three weeks' stay. Her many friends will note with satisfaction that she is improving.

Rambling Party Wednesday Evening.
Perseverance lodge, No. 98, will hold a rambling party Wednesday evening, October 23. First stop at Mrs. Jennie Tamsett's, 2 Huntington avenue, at 6 o'clock. Second stop, Sister Krichbaum's. Third stop, Sister Hooker's. Fourth stop, Sister Lockwood's. Last stop, Maude DeLong's. Drive street. Please mask.

Removing to Schenectady.
Floyd E. Taylor, who has been a resident here for some years and formerly was in the mercantile business here, has decided to remove to Schenectady to reside, it being a more convenient point for his present business engagements. He plans to leave with his family about November 15.

Card of Thanks.
I wish to extend my thanks and appreciation for the beautiful post card showed given me on my birthday, Saturday, October 25. Also I want to thank the friends and relatives who came and gave me such a pleasant evening, bringing so many tempting boxes of good things to eat. I enjoyed about a hundred cards. It makes the long painful hours seem shorter and brighter to know one has so many true friends.

John Seward, Wells Bridge.

Card of Thanks.
I wish to express my gratitude to the best of friends who so generously assisted in the care of my dear mother during her illness, for words cannot express the sympathy, love and care that the beautiful flowers during her convalescence.

DELAWARE COUNTY NEWS

TRADITION

Tradition, Oct. 27. — Mrs. Wm. H. Hays of Deposit was a recent guest of her mother, Mrs. Frank Burdick. Mrs. Burdick and family accompanied her home and spent the day there. — A company of thirty made Mrs. Jay Scrambling a surprise visit on her birthday anniversary, October 22. The evening was spent with games and music and refreshments were served before the company departed for their homes. — A large number from here were in Oneonta Thursday to hear Col. Roosevelt. Ned Aldrich returned from the North woods last week with a deer which weighed 165 pounds. It also proved to be somewhat of a curiosity as the antlers which bore eleven high resembled those of a moose, being somewhat flattened. — Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mann and Robert visited his sister, Mrs. Charles Field and family, in Binghamton one week ago Sunday. — Howard Hall and a force of men raised a new hog pen Thursday which he is building. — Mr. and Mrs. James Eggleston of Rutland, N. Y., spent the week-end at Samuel Bell's and with other relatives here. — E. Bell of Oneonta was also a visitor there. — Mr. and Mrs. Jay Scrambling spent Sunday with relatives near Cooperstown. — Edward Reid of Hudson spent the week-end at Merritt Haslett's with Mrs. Reid, who had been visiting there. — Mr. and Mrs. Milan Ward, Mrs. Harry Barlow, Miss Mina Stockmann, Hugh Mitchell, Homer Wheat and Gordon Murphy were among the Oneonta shoppers Saturday. — Hanford DuMont's people are enjoying lettuce from their garden while others have had green peas and cucumbers during the last two weeks. — A committee meeting will be held at Harry Barlow's Wednesday evening to plan for the "King Tut" Halloween social at Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Hall's Friday evening. It is hoped there may be a good attendance and a cordial invitation is extended by the Epworth league to the elderly people as well as the young. — The W. C. T. U. will hold their annual supper in the church this Tuesday evening. A pleasing program has been arranged to add to the evening's pleasure. — The Ladies Aid will serve dinner in the church election day. Please come prepared to sew as there are comfortable to do and other work to be done. — Miss Edith Alexander, who is attending school in Oneonta, spent the week-end at her home here.

Uncle Josh's Huskies' Bee.

The radio audience will not have a chance to find a red ear and win the privilege of missing all the girls, but it is nevertheless invited to attend the huskies' bee of Uncle Josh Quinby of Hightstown, N. J., Friday night, October 31. WGY, the eastern station of the General Electric company, will broadcast the bee from the Quinby barn. The corn has been shocked and all the neighbors are invited to assist in the husking. Aunt Samanthu will have plenty of doughnuts and cider to refresh to the company and the Cowbell Four and the other orchestra will entertain. Uncle Josh Quinby is an old friend of WGY listeners. Last fall his huskies' bee was broadcast and later the festivities attending the 50th anniversary of his wedding marriage to Samanthu Elzinga were put on the air.

NOVELTIES for HALLOWE'EN

COILED SPRINGS MAKE THESE GOBLINS JUMP

More is Being Made of This Jolly Holiday Every Year - Ghosts Galore and Witches and Gnomes Innumerable - Black Cats Hold Their Own.

By RENE BACHE

SAID it is to say that this year there are more new things for Halloween than in any previous season. Ingenuity seems well-nigh to have exhausted itself in developing novelties along this line to attract buyers always eager to get hold of whatever has not already become familiar.

The fact is that the celebration of Halloween as a festival of real merry-making is in this country only comparatively recent. Not until within the last few years has it assumed in this way great importance, almost rivaling Thanksgiving. But in England it has held rank with Christmas, as an occasion of riotous jollification, since time immemorial.

Backs Back To The Saxons

Indeed, in England the festival goes back to early Saxon times and beyond. It celebrates the gathering of the crops in autumn; and hence the intimate association with it of pumpkins and everything that has to do with farming and the harvest. The Druids, in pre-historic times, are supposed to have made it a quasi-religious holiday; and the Christian Church, when established in that part of the world, merely adopted it, calling it the feast of All-Saints, or All-Hallows.

But, just as many Pagan myths and ideas are still associated with Christmas, so likewise has Halloween retained the witches, ghosts and other things supernatural which in days of old were popularly supposed to play a part in the harvest festival—as it were, behind the scenes. For in ancient times belief in the supernatural was as absolute and unquestioning as was the acceptance of proven, everyday facts; and nobody thought of indulging the impudence of a doubt that on All-Hallows Eve the witches and malicious goblins of every tribe enjoyed an annual outing, in the course of which they might be expected to work all the mischief they could.

But, just as many Pagan myths and ideas are still associated with Christmas, so likewise has Halloween retained the witches, ghosts and other things supernatural which in days of old were popularly supposed to play a part in the harvest festival—as it were, behind the scenes. For in ancient times belief in the supernatural was as absolute and unquestioning as was the acceptance of proven, everyday facts; and nobody thought of indulging the impudence of a doubt that on All-Hallows Eve the witches and malicious goblins of every tribe enjoyed an annual outing, in the course of which they might be expected to work all the mischief they could.

The newest style of witch, for the coming Halloween, is mounted, broom and all, on the end of a long stick. There are even half-length witches of life size, with most expressive paper-mache faces. For Halloween parties there are suitable "favors" of similar kind—witches' hats, witch's brooms with yellow paper for the brush part, etc.

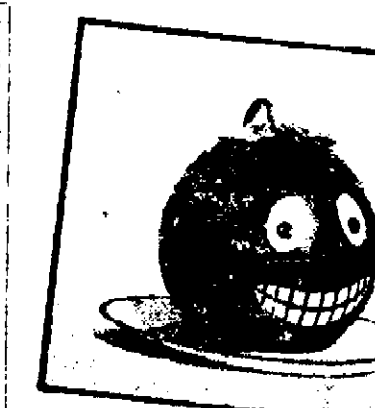

Demology and folklore in general have been raked over in the most thorough kind of way for new ideas suitable to Halloween. Of ghosts there are a multitude—some of them made of paper, and others with skulls for heads. The skull-head is so adjusted, on a spiral spring concealed inside, that the slightest jar causes it to bob and wiggle in a most enarming manner. Another style of Halloween phantom, similarly contrived, and likewise provided with a sort of white shirt, has a head of an alarming koblesque type with mouth agape.

Black Cats Galore

There are cats, of course—black cats, such as have since time immemorial been associated with witches. The black cat, in folklore, is a feline demon. Indeed, among the new Halloween "favors" for this year is found a black cat dressed up in skirt and bonnet, and mounted on a little stand. When a spring is touched, it flies off the stand and into the air far enough to jump across a fair-sized table.

Impish Jack O' Lanterns

Many of the new Halloween toys are candle-holders disguised in one way or another. Thus, for instance, there are skull-candlesticks of papier-mache. Little counterfeit pumpkins on paper plates hold candles in their tops. A miniature Jack o' lantern is provided (behind the eye-holes) with a pair of eyes so adjusted on a spring as to jump about in a surprising manner. It is likewise a candlestick.

JACK-O-LANTERNS IN MINIATURE

Although the origin of the idea may be perhaps not easy to explain, there is undoubtedly an intimate association between Halloween and the Jack-o'-lantern. The latter is illuminated by a candle. The maiden who, on the Eve of All-Hallows, gazes into her mirror at the "witching hour" of twelve, hoping to see the face of her future husband looking over her shoulder, must, if the charm is to work, hold a candle in her hand. One of the new Halloween toys is a candlestick with a funny Jack o' lantern sort of face adorning the candle. But the latter is of paper, and, when removed, discloses a holder for a real candle.

Among the novelties for this year are pumpkin houses, two feet high and made of wood. Their designs are ingeniously fanciful, and, of course, all sorts of amusing surprises in the way of gifts for guests stowed away in them. There are also huge, "life-size" Jack o' lanterns, with pumpkins for heads and standing on legs and feet. Silk cushions are made in realistic imitation of pumpkins. On a small er scale are "kewpies" with pumpkin heads, and "kewpie" farmers with wooden rakes in their hands and accompanying pumpkins.

Halloween Vegetables

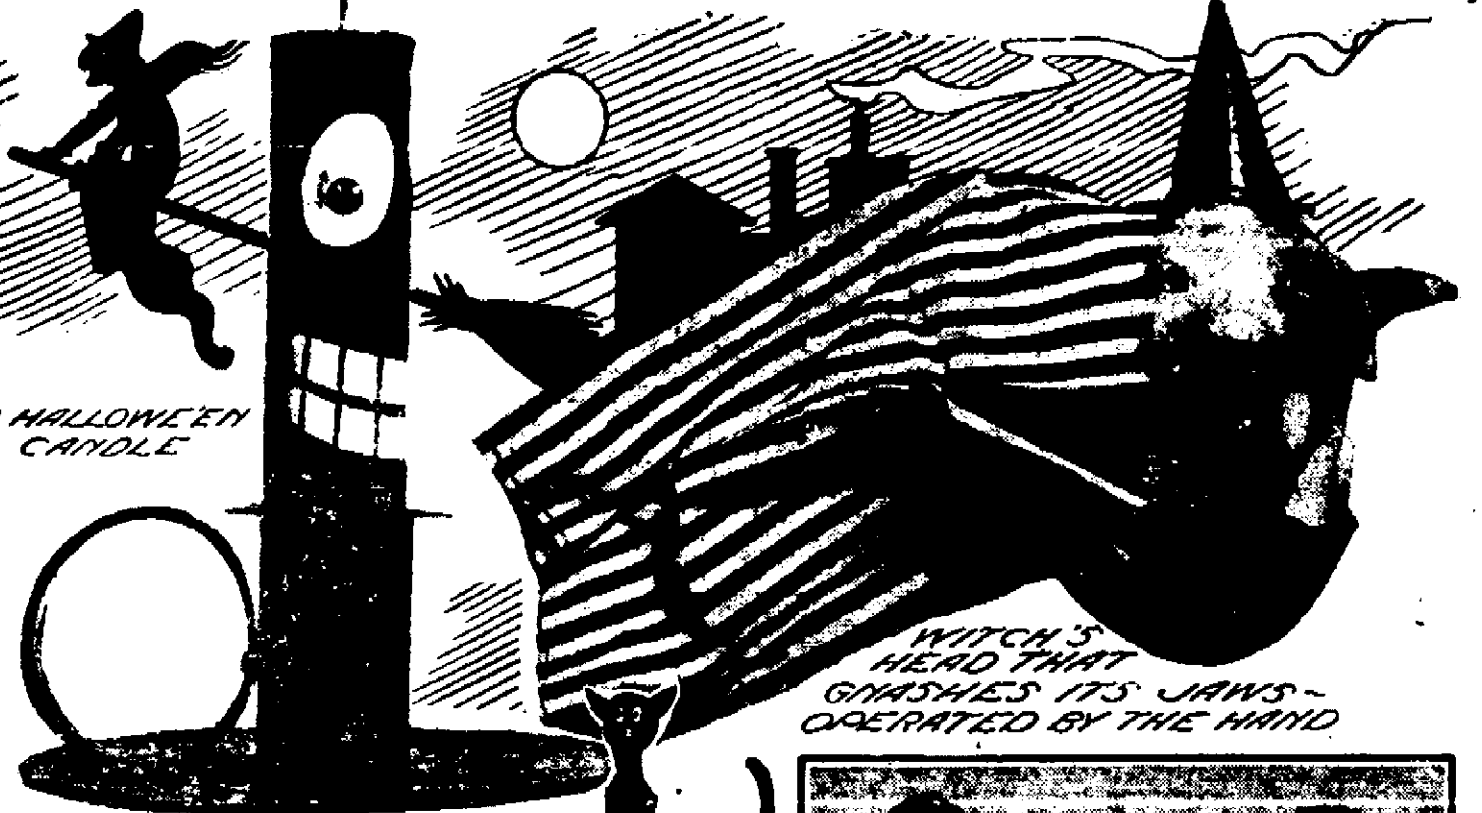

It would be interesting to know who invented the Jack o' lantern. It is one of the classic playthings, dating back nobody knows how far. Very likely its origin is pre-historic. But, no matter who it was that first thought of carving features in a pumpkin and putting a lighted candle in it, the Jack o' lantern is probably immortal. A hundred thousand years from now, when we ourselves are mixed up in most people's minds with the cave-dwellers, the Jack o' lantern will be as popular as it is today.

Whatever happens to be associated with agriculture, or more particularly with horticulture, and most of all with the kitchen garden is deemed appropriate nowadays for Halloween—at all events, as a source of Halloween ideas.

Paper pumpkins are mounted on the ends of long sticks, like the witches and black cats. One is supposed to wave them about hilariously during Halloween festivities. Feathered "ticklers" are similarly contrived, for long-distance tickling. Yellow pasteboard horns have cats and witches printed on them in black.

huge teeth are made to clap their jaws alarmingly by a hand inserted in a short sleeve connected with the jaws above. Sometimes the monster's head is that of a witch, made as grotesque as possible.

WITCH'S HEAD THAT GRASHES ITS JAWS—OPERATED BY THE HAND

HALLOWE'EN PEANUT PEOPLE

AACHEN, THE HOME OF CHARLEMAGNE

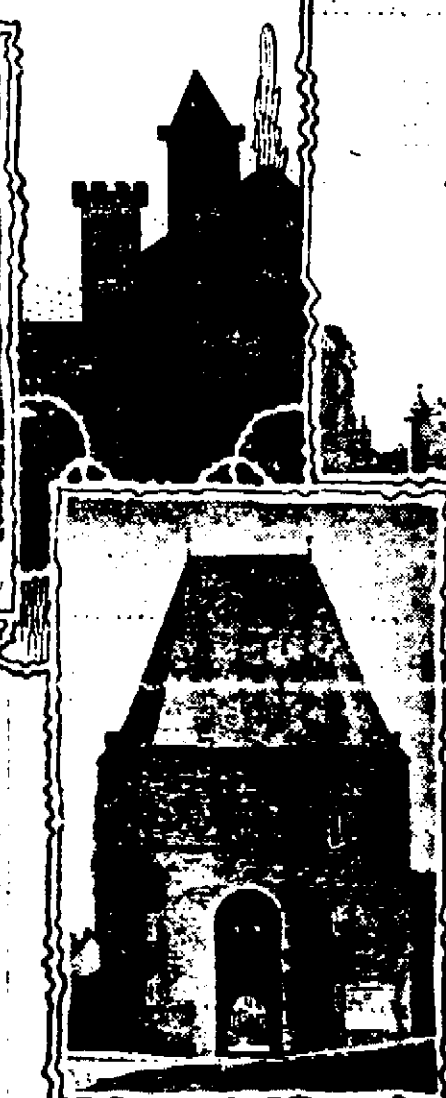

HALL IN THE RATHHAUS

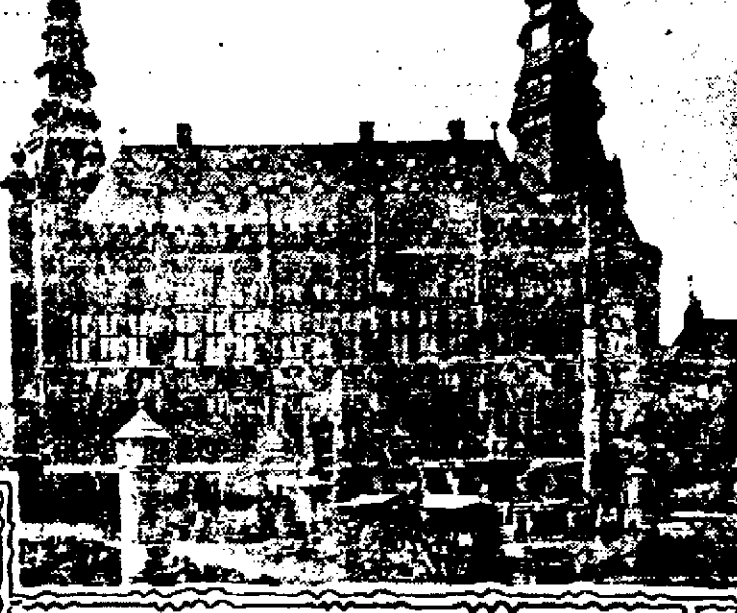

Charles the Great, Carolus Magnus, or as he is popularly known, Charlemagne, had time to be not only the wisest and best king, the most progressive and far-seeing ruler, one of the great world-conquerors but also one of the most famous of all lovers. In the year 800, on Christmas Day, he was crowned at Rome emperor of all the western world. He had won in battle all of what is now Germany, all of Italy, and he owned and ruled all France and much of Spain. In a long war, lasting 33 years, he had beaten the warlike Anglo-Saxons. All of modern Europe bowed beneath his sway and he ruled superlatively well. He found Europe dead and all learning atrophied, all art and culture trodden under foot and lost to sight. He resurrected, and put new energy into every phase of life, and built up such a kingdom of learning and wide-awake brilliant ideas as had not been seen since the palmy days of Greece and Rome. Between times he went to his little native town of Aachen and became a boy again in his blissful freedom and love of nature. It was here he built a nest for her he loved, the exquisite Fastrada, and to make it worthy of her he ransacked the world and its cities for beautiful ornaments and works of art. The treasures of ruined Rome were brought to light that they might adorn this little village. For it he built one of the world's most beautiful chapels, so lovely that the town was ever after known as the town of the chapel, in French Aix-la-Chapelle.

By LILIAN MAYDEN HESTON

THE saying: "Charley has the head that wears a crown," was all vintage in the case of Charlemagne's beloved wife. There was no woman in all the world more beautiful than she. Charlemagne, whose lot was an unusually happy. There seems not to have been one single cloud to obscure the sunlight of their love. The day before he was crowned coronation chair, placed the body of Charlemagne in a beautiful sarcophagus. It was a long vigil and during the dead here must have been glad to see. Thirty-one years later, from Barbarossa to the present, Charles V. was crowned at Aachen and used at the coronation chair, this wonderfully carved chair of the dead Charlemagne. Little is known of the lovely Fastrada. History says of her: "She lived and was beloved."

MARSHALLER GATE

CITY HALL OR "RATHHAUS" IN AIX-LA-CHAPPELLE (GERMANY AACHEN)

The Wonderful Chapel. They belonged to the new faith, were Christians, and it was he who spread the faith through the length and breadth of Europe. He brought back from the Holy Land for his chapel and became for all the western world a place of pilgrimage.

The Modern Town

It is scarcely fair to speak of Aachen as a modern town. The heart of the city is still the same as it was in the days of Charlemagne.

CHURCH OF THE VIRGIN

picturesque and ancient place, but modern it is in some respects. One of the finest technical schools of modern times is there. The people are up-to-date and wide awake and keeping up the ideals of the great benefactor and patron of the town. Upon the ruins of Charlemagne's palace has been built the beautiful city hall or Rathaus, built in the very picturesque style of Germany. Before it is the great open-air market with which every German city, large or small, adorns itself. Here are flowers and vegetables and all manner of good things several times a week, and here it is that the people congregate. It is the town club and one hears all the news of the day discussed. The careful Hausfrau takes home her purchases and always on top of fruit and vegetables are laid the freshest and most beautiful flowers she can find. Above all this is the German love of flowers as the gorgeous window-boxes in every house in Germany tell the passer-by. No house is even built without the greenwork in flower-boxes for every porch and window ledge. In every home of Germany these flowers smile a greeting to the street.

Many Treaties Signed Here

Many important political meetings have been held in Aachen and treaties signed there. After the final defeat of Napoleon at Waterloo the allied nations fighting against France sent deputies to Aachen to arrange terms and to decide that an army of 150,000 foreigners should be quartered in France for five years or for some other term than that time "provided that the allies considered France unwounded as to be helpless for aggressive acts." It was also at Aix-la-Chapelle or Aachen, that in 1819 France demanded the repeal of the former law France had, astonishingly recovered her prestige and the allies granted her request. The treaty which settled the war part of the Spanish Succession was also made here.

A Free City

Aachen remained through all the centuries what Charlemagne had created it, an imperial free city, to which even men under the ban of empire might come for refuge. It remained, in theory at least, during a great many centuries the capital of Europe. Until 1656 all successors to Charlemagne came there to receive the insignia of office.

In 1656 a terrible fire burned down 4,000 houses and in that same century there were great religious wars here and protestants were driven out. The seat of government was finally moved to Frankfurt. There has long been an annual fair held in the town to which merchants come from all parts of Europe and much business is done.

On the line of the old fortifications are spacious boulevards that rank in beauty with the streets of more populous cities. In the oldest ruins of buildings the royal eagles are carved in the crevices of windows and doors, in token of its being the residence of the kings.

Today Aachen is an important link in the great railroad lines, a center through which the express trains between France and Germany pass. It is a busy little place and very convenient of its important part in the history of Europe.

BETTER RAILWAY SERVICE

Seventy-Five Motive Power Officials Meet in Oneonta Monday to Form Association — Interesting Meeting Followed by Banquet — Master Mechanic George Brown Elected President.

At a meeting of the Superintendent's Association of the Motive Power, department of the Susquehanna division of the Delaware and Hudson company, held yesterday morning in the room of the old round house in Oneonta, there were 75 present. Included foremen, assistant foremen, gang leaders, road foremen of engines, assistant road foremen of engines and other supervisory men. George Brown, master mechanic of the Oneonta shops, was elected president, and Albert Hutchinson, also of this city, secretary and treasurer. The admirable purpose of the meeting, and of the association, is mutual exchange of ideas, to the betterment of the service and better acquaintance among the members, all of whom are employees of the engine service of the company between Mechanville and Binghamton, including branches.

The meeting will probably be held monthly and social functions will be held from time to time. The expenses are borne by monthly dues of 50 cents per member. The association was formed on the initiative of the men themselves, but it meets with the hearty approval and cooperation of the officials of the road.

At the meeting, which was called to order at 9:30 a. m., the theme of discussion was "Elimination of Engine Failures," a subject of special importance at this time of year. The principal talk was by President Brown, who, after outlining the purpose of the association, considered in detail some of the causes of engine failures, regarding his inability to be present, was read from G. S. Edwards, superintendent of motive power of the men in forming the organization.

Other speakers were J. J. Jones, chief of Oneonta division stockkeeper; Archie Jones of Carlisle, superintendent of air brakes for the Susquehanna and Pennsylvania division; J. M. Morrison of Oneonta, road foreman of engines; Robert Morton of Oneonta, general roundhouse foreman; Thomas Duncan of Albany, chief engine boiler inspector; John Penny, foreman of Albany, representing the office of the supervisor of wages and working agreements; L. E. Wesley of the Franklin Oil Supply company; J. E. Long, superintendent of safety, Albany; H. G. Keller of the Independent Tool company, and D. E. Cook of the Chicago Pneumatic Tool company, all the addresses being pertinent to the subject of the meeting.

At 2 o'clock adjournment was taken to the Elks club, where a fine turkey dinner was served, during which excellent music was furnished by an orchestra composed of motive department employees and directed by William Partridge of this city. There were also solos by Fred Scharr and Walter Morgan, members of the association, and a copious supply of cigars, cigarettes, pipes and calendars was furnished by the supply men.

FIVE PROJECT FAIRS

Children of Many School Districts Show Proficiency in Work.

Five school and junior project fairs were held in Otsego county during the week of October 20th. These were held at Gifford Hill, near Oneonta, Fly Creek, Hartwick, Monticello and East Worcester. At each fair a fine program was held including songs, recitations, the 4-H club achievement light ceremony and presentation of the Junior project achievement pins.

At the Gifford Hill fair there were three calves, five exhibits of poultry, some clothing work and vegetables. About 40 pup, and parents attended. Districts No. 1, 3 and 15 of Oneonta took part.

There were about 125 children and parents at the Fly Creek school fair. The children gave a fine program and enjoyed the songs and sports in good spirit. There were exhibited one calf, one pig of poultry, two vegetable exhibits, three potato exhibits, and some exhibits not in Junior project work. Districts No. 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 11, 12 and 15 of Otsego took part.

At Hartwick where 200 attended there were very fine exhibits. The Hartwick National bank provided some prize money which added to the excitement during the judging. A fine program was given. All of the schools of the town of Hartwick were included. The awards were made as follows:

Poultry — 1st, Mae Hill; 2nd, Mildred Morris; 3rd, Mae Hill.

Canning — 1st, Jean Lockwood; 2nd, Mildred Mather; 3rd, Eva Wayman.

Clothing Exhibit — 1st, Virginia Melius; 2nd, Clara Maxwell; 3rd, Genevieve Melius.

Potatoes (Best Ten) — 1st, Chatham Central; 2nd, George Manley; 3rd, Harry Kelsey.

Grain — 1st, Arthur Bennington; 2nd, John Mott; 3rd, Robert Murdoch.

Corn — 1st, Arthur Bennington; 2nd, Mary Teifer.

White Leghorns — 1st, Anna Yeake; 2nd, Ada Linae Cook.

Other breeds — 1st, Jessie Lower; 2nd, Arthur Kelsey.

There were no calves or heifers shown.

Although there were not as many Junior project exhibits at Monticello, the exhibits included a large variety of poultry including dogs, chickens, ducks, chickens and Junior project exhibits in vegetables, potatoes and clothing. The program was held out of doors before 100 pupils and parents. Among the sports events was a race for puppies in which the Irish terrier puppy won from the little poodle by two yards.

At Worcester there were six calves, five exhibits of garden vegetables, two of potatoes, four of canning and jelly and one of poultry. One boy led his calf six miles to the fair and two others led theirs 2 1/2 or 3 miles over the hills. The results of the awards follow:

Fight! Fight!

MICHIGAN'S fighting spirit has been fired as never before as a result of the crushing defeat at the hands of Illinois. The veteran Yag (top) and his young assistant, Little (below), are concentrating on a fighting spirit rather than football technique. The Wolverines are out to make amends for the Elgin catastrophe.

HOMES WANTED FOR CHILDREN

The Children's Aid Society of New York wishes to provide homes in the country for the many poor and homeless children who are under its care.

The most of these children come from the best orphanages in and about New York and have been diligently trained and selected with care to fit the new family life into which they are to enter. If a school has been made in the child as from any reason the child be not satisfactory, the society bears the trouble and expense of its return.

These children are of both sexes but are chiefly boys and range in age from five to fifteen years.

If you apply for a child you should be prepared to satisfy the society that you will furnish the child with a home, that you will trust the child as a true member of your family by taking the place of father and mother to him as far as possible; that you will give him the education and moral training which will fit him to take a respectable, self-supporting place in the community.

If you have never had a boy about you, you can hardly imagine how interesting he can be and how he can renew your interest in life by relieving you of the many small cares of the farm. Let this society send you a nice, active boy to run errands, hunt the eggs, bring the cows, or possibly send you a sweet little girl to cheer your household in return for the comfort and protection of an approved home.

Kindly send your name and address, telling about your home and desires and an agent of our society will be pleased to correspond with you.

WOMAN SENT TO JAIL

Mrs. Mary Sutliff, Brooks Parole and Escapes from Detention Ward — Gets 180 Days in County Lockup.

Mrs. Mary Sutliff of River street, who escaped from the detention ward of the city jail Saturday night, was arraigned before Judge Lee D. Van Woert in city court yesterday morning and sentenced to 180 days in the county jail at Cooperstown.

Mrs. Sutliff first was arrested several weeks ago accused of improper guardianship of her three children. After pleading guilty she was placed on probation to Miss Dorothy Blake and Judge Welch, in children's court sent the children to an institution. She is said to have violated the terms of her parole to Miss Blake with the result that she was again ordered brought into court.

She was arrested Saturday night and placed in the detention ward on the third floor. Sometime during the night, she escaped by breaking out the grating in a window and fleeing down the fire escape to the street. She was found Sunday by Chief of Police Frank N. Horton and Patrolman James Tansett, hiding under a pile of carpets and clothing behind a trunk in a clothes closet in a house on Duane street.

Paul Hauer of 40 West 42nd avenue, plead not guilty to a charge of reckless driving. He was arrested by Patrolman Cross. His case was adjourned until Friday.

INCOME TAX LIST GUARDED

Collector Clarke of Syracuse District Will Give Out No List Without Definite Orders from Washington.

Syracuse, Oct. 23.—Throwing open to public inspection the lists containing the amounts of income tax paid by taxpayers doesn't mean that the Internal Revenue department is lifting itself up to make out "sucker lists" for ambitious bond salesmen and others, Jesse W. Clarke, collector, declared yesterday.

"It seems," Mr. Clarke continued, "certain persons have gotten the idea that they can now come into the department and make out lists of all taxpayers, whose amount of income tax indicates they have made large amounts of money, in order to use them for commercial purposes." Two bond salesmen sought information last week, Mr. Clarke said, ostensibly to get prospective customers.

Only Thursday night Mr. Clarke received a telegram from one of the New York dailies asking for a list of taxpayers in this district whose tax was over $10,000.

"I do not know," the collector declared, "what the newspaper wants with such a list, but I do know they are not going to get it. I shall give out no such information without absolute orders from Commissioner Blair in Washington."

Mr. Clarke pointed out that it is unlawful to publish lists showing the amounts of income taxes paid. He received a telegram from Washington this morning instructing him to make known the provisions of section 316 of the revenue act of 1921 covering this question.

RAINY SPELL PREDICTED.

After Four Weeks of Fair Weather Storm is Indicated.

After an interval of nearly four weeks of fair weather with only a few light showers, the weather man announces that we are likely to be visited by a rainy spell and that showers that may become copious are likely to occur today.

The only day during October thus far on which more than a slight sprinkle fell was on October 7th, when according to the measurements made at this office only .08 of an inch fell, which is very an inch compared with usual fall rains.

The area of high barometric pressure that has caused pleasant weather for a number of days extended yesterday from New England southwest to Louisiana and it is opposed on the southeast by a disturbance, central on the South Carolina coast, that is causing rain in the southeast. Low pressure covers the northwest, central on the Canada west coast. Temperatures are moderate.

The coast disturbances is moving northeast, causing unsettled weather in this section for two days and there is some possibility that the showers will become heavy. Augusta, Ga., having 1.44 inches of rain, Asheville, N. C., 1.14 inch and Hatteras, N. C., 1.02 inches.

Low pressure covers the northwest but unless it unites with the approaching disturbance expected to bring only mild temperature to this section.

HIGH SCHOOL ELECTIONS

Special Program by Students at Assembly Yesterday — First Basketball Game Friday.

This is "open" season for elections at the high school, the officers of the senior class, the athletic association and the dramatic club having recently been chosen.

The class officers are: Jay Swackhammer, president; Vesta Chamberlain, vice president; Axel Perman, treasurer; and Helen Beers, secretary.

Officers for the athletic association are: President, Axel Perman; vice president, Vesta Chamberlain; secretary, Ruth McGinnis; treasurer, Richard Hayward; junior and sophomore representative, Harold Distrow.

The dramatic club officers are: President, Catherine Gallagher; vice president, Kenneth Hamilton; secretary, Vesta Chamberlain; treasurer, Judson Lutsey.

In connection with the assembly exercises yesterday a Sir Walter Scott program, was given by several of the students. Harold Bloom related in an entertaining manner the life of Sir Walter Scott and a song presented from "Ivanhoe," the first by Harold Distrow and David Horton and the second by Miss Edna Cook and Miss Hazel Bradley.

The first basketball game of the season has been scheduled for Friday and will be played against the Hobart High School team at Hobart.

Special music is being played in assembly every morning in connection with the musical memory contest.

MAKES FAT PEOPLE SLIM

New York Physician Perfects Harmless Method of Reducing Weight

The loss of as much as a pound of excess fat a day with no harmful results is being made by many patients of Dr. R. Newman, a licensed practicing physician of 260 Fifth avenue, New York, who states that he has perfected a treatment which has quickly rid fat people of excess weight. What is more remarkable is the doctor's statement that he has successfully treated thousands of patients for fat reduction without change of diet or unnecessary exercise. It is also said that fat people who suffer from chronic constipation, gout, rheumatism and high blood pressure obtain great relief from the reduction of their superfluous flesh. Declaring that this method almost too good to be true, the doctor has offered to write him a free trial treatment to prove his claims, as well as his "Day when reduced" plan. If you want to reduce your excess fat, write him today, addressing Dr. R. Newman, 260 Fifth avenue, New York city, Dept. K.

SCOUT COURT OF HONOR

J. L. Kniskern of Cobleskill to Become Eagle Scout, First in Otsego.

A court of honor is to be held on November 11 at Cobleskill, expected to be the largest in history of the council, when J. L. Kniskern of that village is to receive the rank of Eagle Scout, the first in the Otsego-Schoharie council. In addition to this new honor, 61 merit badges will also be conferred. The Cobleskill troops are progressing in very excellent fashion and Scout Executive Hornbeck yesterday said that without question Cobleskill was one of the finest Scout towns in the district.

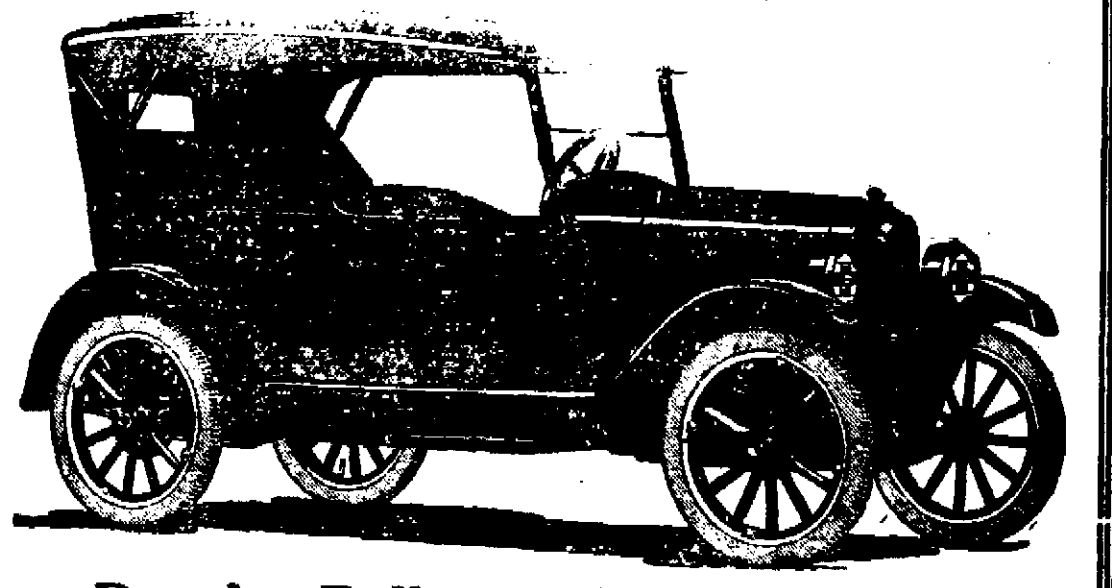

A Court of Honor will also be held in Oneonta on November 14 at which several awards are to be made, and the event promises to be one of the outstanding ones in Oneonta.

On October 21, all the Boy Scout troops of Oneonta are to unite in a big "Hall overn party," arrangements for which have not been completed, but which are now well under way. An evening of exceptional pleasure is promised for those Scouts who join in the form of observance.

What your guests will think of the effort you serve depends upon what you can think of when you order it. Order Kniskern coffee and be satisfied.
